WOOSTER DEFEATS KENYON IN OPENING GAME, WINNING 10--0 AFTER HARD BATTLE

Heavier Team Breaks Kenyon Line After Many Attempts--Passes Worked By Kenyon--Stout Defence By Gambier Eleven Encourages Kenyon Students Who Attend Game

Prospects of Winning Season Good As Team Holds Wooster Line--Heavy Schedule

The annual game with Wooster last Saturday, although lost by Kenyon 10-0 proved conclusively to doubtful adherents that the Kenyon team this year is far above the average of Kenyon teams. Outweighed fifteen pounds to the man and playing against an eleven touted as state champions, the Kenyon team, most of whom were sophomores playing their first college game, demonstrated that any team that defeats Kenyon will have to have a better team than Wooster.

Kenyon received the kick-off and after Schafer made a few yards on end runs, was forced to punt. From then on the first half resolved itself into a punting duel between Schafer and Manchester with honors about even. Only once did either side have an opportunity to score, Wooster attempting a place kick from a difficult angle which failed. The half ended with the ball in midfield.

In the second half, Wooster's weight soon told. The Kenyon line was pushed back yard after yard until Manchester carried the ball over for a touchdown and kicked goal. Roderick's line-bucking aided materially in the score. Shortly after this score, Manchester added three points with a goal from placement on the 25 yd. line.

Kenyon was unable to gain ground consistently. White and Schafer executed a few forward passes, but the ball was constantly in Kenyon's territory and the team was always on the defensive. Capt. Axtell intercepted a Wooster pass and ran 25 yards before he was downed, just as the game ended.

couraging to the team and to the coach. It showed that the "fight" was present and only a little more experience would find Kenyon one of the best teams in the state.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

The opening of the football season for the coming year on the Monday preceeding the opening of college showed four veterans and several substitutes of last year and practically all of last year's crack freshman team.

Capt. Axtell, Schafer, Ader, White, Gunn, Thorne, Gordon, Snook and Sheerin have shown the same good form and ability of last season. McGormley who played two years ago should fill a big hole at tackle. Love, also a member of the team two years ago is in college, but had the misfortune to break his collar-bone in the Cane Rush and will not get back into the game until late in the season.

Prospects for a team far above those of the last six or eight years are bright and barring accidents the season should be as successful as that of 1908.

Coach Kelleher has been drilling the team on the plays he gave out during the spring training season, and particular attention has been given to block-

PEP CHARACTERIZES OCTOBER ASSEMBLY

Large Attendance Hears Discussion Of Abolition of Baseball in Constitution

Full attendance and plenty of snap characterized the October Assembly on October 2, when discussion of the baseball question resulted in the offering of an amendment to the constitution, abolishing the sport perpetually from Kenyon athletics. The amendment lies on the table until the November Assembly.

Roll-call showed that practically every man in college was present. The report of the Executive Committee was accepted and several vacancies were filled on the dormitory and honor committees.

The baseball question was brought up as old business having been postponed from the June Assembly. A warm discussion arose, and the Choir ruled that an amendment was the only proper way to abolish baseball, as it was provided for by the constitution. The discussion was closed when D. H. Wattle, '17, offered such an amendment.

Remarks on the football team were made by Captain Axtell and William R. Kinder, '14. Before adjournment President Cross expressed gratification at the good attendance.

He stated that a full attendance was necessary for the proper conducting of the business of the Assembly, and expressed a hope that future meetings would keep up the good start.

L. V. Axtell, '17, moved that a committee be appointed to draw up and present a new constitution. He declared that the present constitution is woefully inadequate, being contradictory in terms and indefinite in meaning. L. H. Tate, '18, moved as an amendment to the motion that a faculty member work with the committee. Mr. Axtell opposed the amendment and it was withdrawn by Mr. Tate. The original motion was then passed unanimously by the Assembly.

Announcement has since been made by President Cross of the personnel of the committee. It consists of Elrick B. Davis, '17, J. E. C. Meeker, '17, and Luther H. Tate, '18. The committee expects to get to work in the near future, and hope to present a new constitution for approval in a few months.

Almost a hundred students from Otterbein are expected to make the trip to Gambier, Saturday, when their team meets Kenyon.

IMPRESSIVE SCENES MARK OPENING DAY

Nearly 150 Students Enrolled on College Register--Dr. Peirce Welcomes New Men

Speaks on Unusual Advantages of American Youth--Good Music Offered by Choir

Impressive is the word that best describes the opening of the ninety-third year of Kenyon College on September 20. From the moment the chapel bell announced the fact officially, until the last freshman had left the door, not an accident or demonstration occurred to mar the beautiful occasion.

As usual the new men had arrived a few days early, and when five o'clock of September 20 had arrived, one hundred and forty-six names had been entered on the books of the registrar. Only thirty-nine freshmen attended the first chapel, but not one of the sophomores was missing, and they were doubtless eager to sit in their new seats.

The college choir under the leadership of I. P. DeWolf did much to make the service beautiful. Then chanting, although no practice had been held, was beautifully precise, and the hymns were sung in a hearty manner. Chaplain Winslow read the service, and Dr. Peirce made an address.

The president spoke of the unusual advantage that the college man of today has been given in America. He pointed out the fact that while the college men of Europe are fighting in the trenches, those of America are safe in their classrooms. Thus he continued, for many years to come the American college man will be the only well educated man in the world, and now is his chance to show what he is made of.

After the address the men left by classes, and the upper classmen initiated the newcomers into the mysteries of the Commons, which opened for the first meal of the year at six o'clock.

Fire Plugs Installed on Campus

Five fire plugs were installed on the Campus during the summer months, this being the result of the more or less insistent demands of the State Fire Inspector for adequate fire protection for the college.

These fire plugs are placed: One at Bexley, one near hole number 4 of the golf course, two between Rosse and Hanna Halls, and one between Old Kenyon and Hanna.

The plugs and pipe line throw a two-inch stream of water and the approximate cost was $500.

VALUABLE VOLUMES GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Facsimile of Biblical Manuscript
Dating from Fifth Century
—Pamphlets on War

Valuable facsimiles of an ancient Biblical manuscript and a complete collection of pamphlets published by belligerents during the present war have been received by the College Library, through the efforts of Bishop Leonard.

The manuscript is the so-called Washington Manuscript of Joshua, Deuteronomy, and the four Gospels, dating from the fifth century, and now in the possession of Charles L. Freer, of Detroit, Mich. Mr. Freer, at the request of President Hutchins, of the University of Michigan, permitted the manuscript to be photographed, and the entire work was published in two volumes by the MacMillan Co.

Bishop Leonard heard of the work, and wrote to President Hutchins, asking for copies for the Kenyon Library. The request was granted, and the books have been received, with a scholarly study of the Manuscript by Professor Henry A. Sanders, of the University. The addition to the Library is considered very valuable, and acknowledgment has been made to the University of Michigan.

The pamphlets are in nine volumes, and include all the official papers put out by the various European governments during the war. They were presented by Bishop Leonard. Many of these pamphlets have been received before, but they have not been previously available in volumes, and the collection will form a valuable historical document.

Death of Robert Walton Arouses Unusual Regret

Widespread sorrow was felt by students and residents of Gambier at the news that Robert Walton, second son of Dr. L. B. Walton, had died during the summer. His death occurred in August at the family residence in Gambier.

Robert Walton was sixteen years old, and was a student in the Mt. Vernon High School. He was prominent in athletics in that school, and was an excellent tennis player. He would have been a senior in the high school this year. A large number of friends among his fellow students and among the students in college feel keenly his loss.

ASCENSION HALL IMPROVED

During the summer additional and improved laboratory space was secured in Ascension Hall by the enlargement and repairing of rooms already used by the Department of Physics. The laboratories have also been repaired and have a much more cheerful aspect than they formerly did.

CLANDESTINE TENNIS MATCH LANDS NEW PROFESSOR FACULTY TITLE

Playing while all the Collegian reporters were watching football practice and the editor was clipping exchanges, President Peirce and Dr. Lockert recently staged a match for the tennis championship of the college faculty. At least, the report which has leaked out says it was for that title.

It is thought that the result of the match has led to the secrecy which surrounds it. The President used to be a state champion and has always been No. 1 of the faculty players. Appearing as an unheralded wonder, however, the new English professor is said to have taken three straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. Whether further games will demonstrate his right to keep the exalted title remains to be seen. Neither of the contestants will say much about the matter.

The first game of the season with Wooster was perhaps one of the most important games of the season, since Wooster is conceded to be among the stronger teams in the state.

After Wooster, Case is scheduled at Cleveland and from then until Thanksgiving day the team plays every week, there being ten games in all. This means hard work straight through the season and from the interest already shown this should be an extremely successful year.

BROTHERHOOD OF SAINT ANDREW HOLDS ANNUAL SMOKER

Kenyon chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held their annual smoker to the incoming freshman Saturday evening, Sept. 23, in the Sterling Room.

During the evening Professor Mac Mahon, the new Spanish instructor from the University of Madrid favored those present with a selection on the piano.

Aside from the pleasures derived in renewing old acquaintances and making new ones, the Brotherhood men served refreshments during the course of the evening which were speedily consumed.

After the usual showing of Kenyon good fellowship and song the men returned to their various Divisions well pleased with the first social gathering of the year.

The refreshments were furnished by the wives of several professors, and by townspeople, Mrs. Peirce, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Doolittle, and Mrs. Adams assisting in this work.

Members of the faculty who were present included Dr. Reeves, Dr. Manning, Dr. Lockert, the Chaplain, Professor Larwill, and Professor MacMahon.

THREE PROFESSORS ADDED TO FACULTY

Economics Chair Filled by German-Princeton Man and Spaniard
New Assistants

Strengthening the college faculty with new courses, three new members have been added to the college faculty this fall, Dr. Hugo P. J. Sellinger in Economics, Dr. Lacy Lockert as Assistant Professor of English, and Senor Francisco MacMahon in Spanish.

Francisco Javier Tobar de MacMahon assumes the instruction of Spanish. He was born in Havana, Cuba, his mother's family name being Gonzalez de Anleo-Riespoli. He was taken to Spain at the age of three. At Madrid he received the degree of Bachelor of Science and Letters, in the University of Valencia, 1904. He became Licenciado in Law at the Central University of Madrid. From 1908 to 1914 he lived in Paris, where he taught Spanish and studied at the Sorbonne. At the beginning of the present European war he was active in hospital work in Germany and France for the Red Cross Society, of which he is an enthusiastic member. At present he is acting as correspondent, along with his teaching, for several Spanish and South American newspapers. He speaks French, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese fluently, and much interest is being taken this year in this department of the college.

To fill the vacancy of Assistant English Professor, made by the departure of Dr. Harrison, the college has secured Dr. Lacy Lockert. Dr. Lockert received his A. B. degree from South Western Presbyterian University in 1907. The two following years, he spent teaching and taking the M. A. degree there. He spent four years after that pursuing a graduate study of English at Princeton, and was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in June, 1916. His courses here have already become quite popular.

The chair of Economics has been filled by Dr. Hugo Paul Joseph Sellinger. He was born in Mannheim, Germany in 1876. He received his A. B. degree at the Gymnasium de Mannheim. He has done extensive work at the universities of Heidelberg, Munich, Paris, Berlin and Chicago. His M. A. degree was secured at Munich and his Ph. D. at Heidelberg. He received his B. D. and Th. M. degrees in this country at Crozier Seminary, Chester, Pennsylvania. From the years 1907 to 1911 he was lecturer in Sociology and Economics at the University of Chicago, and from 1911 to 1915 professor of Economics at the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash. At present he is on a leave of absence, locum tenens, from St. James Church, Dillon, Montana, 1915-1916.

LITERARY SOCIETIES OFF TO EARLY START

Clash Comes in Membership Canvass
—Faculty Elected—Officers Named in Philo

Starting with all their old time rivalry Philomathesian and Nu Pi Kappa Literary Societies started their weekly meetings on the evening of September 27. Both societies were primarily concerned with the proposal of new names.

Two well developed and supposedly secret movements were under way to corral the freshmen into the societies, and they early ran counter of each other. With initiations scheduled for the evening of October 4, it is impossible to say which society has fared best, but both President McKechnie of Philo and President Meeker of Nu Pi Kappa profess themselves well satisfied.

The new professors have all been approached by the two societies, Dr. Lockert joining Nu Pi Kappa, and Dr. Sellinger and Prof. MacMahon becoming members of Philo.

The meeting of Nupi was well attended and enthusiastic. President Meeker predicted a successful year for the society, and expressed hopes of defeating Philo in the Stires Debate.

Philo, continuing reforms started last year to increase the interest and fitness of the meetings, took under consideration further changes in the constitution. Several members who had been dropped for non-attendance were reinstated upon request, and plans were laid for the year. To fill vacancies caused by men leaving college, J. W. Southard, '18, was elected Vice-President, and L. H. Tate, '18, was named Secretary.

COMMONS PUT ON STRICTLY CASH BASIS

With the opening of the present college year, the college Commons has been put on a stricter business basis than has been the case in previous years. There will be absolutely no credit extended to students, according to a new rule made by Cashier E. M. Tasman, and all rebate slips must be handed in before the meals they cover. As in past years the rebate system applies only when three or more successive meals are missed.

Twelve tables are in operation at the Commons, with an equal number of waiters, there being one waiter for every ten men. As a further improvement, a new refrigerator of large dimensions was built during the summer on the south side of the building.

His congenial personality along with the popularity of his courses insure a successful year for his department in college.

What Is Expected

"It is well known to everyone that athletes must observe training rules, that is, certain regulations in regard to eating and sleep. Strong sentiment in favor of these training rules has, in the past, been noticeably absent on the part of the student body. We believe that there should be such a sentiment toward strict training rules."—Wooster Voice.

These lines may well be applied to Kenyon. It is well known that in part years Kenyon athletes have frequently broken training during the football season. The undergraduate body has every right to require the present team to make this condition a matter of the past.

It needs no argument to prove that such a condition is wrong; and a united sentiment should be held among the student body in condemnation of the man who breaks training. The question is simply one of training properly now, or having the lack of training drag down the team to unwarranted defeat.

Kenyon students have never made victory the sole measure of success. Plucky losing teams of the past have been lauded as victors. But it should be understood in the future that teams which lose because they have not trained will command little respect from their fellow students.

A New Leaf

One of the most important periods in a man's life is his freshman year in college. It is at this time that he steps out of the period of boyhood into the vast world of manhood. He is sent away from his boyhood associations, his parents, all that he loves and cherishes, to a community of young men who are also passing through that important stage between boyhood and manhood. Responsibility is thrust upon him from all sides. Temptation stares him in the face from every corner. He is a freshman in life as well as in college and he must mould his ideals in this first year of making.

Many things seem strange to the freshman and his ideas are quickly changed. For instance, where he was a mighty senior in high school but a few months previous, he now finds that his opinion is considered valueless by the upper-classmen with whom he is associated. He is told to tip his hat to all undergraduates in the three upper classes. He is made to do many things which humiliate as well as anger him. He is the errand boy of the entire community and in many ways is forced to do work for others. He justly considers these restrictions and orders foolish as do the great majority of upperclassmen. If he grits his teeth and bears the slight abuses to his pride, he is considered a good freshman and immediately becomes popular.

The real benefit of freshman discipline has often been disputed. However, records will show that the popular man in college is the man who did grit his teeth when a freshman. The underlying object of the upperclassman is to help the new man, even though his methods may seem harsh and rather indirect. It is safe to say that many freshmen could not stand the prosperity of responsibility, were it not for this discipline. Whether good or bad it is well for the entering man to acquiesce to the existing conditions rather than to attempt to revolutionize the custom of many years. Politeness is the secret to a freshman's popularity.

Safety First

With the installation of fire plugs in front of the dormitories during the first summer the final step in providing adequate fire protection has been taken by the college authorities. The improvement is a matter for general congratulation.

When the present senior class entered Kenyon, the only fire protection in the dormitories consisted of small chemical extinguishers, one to each division, which failed repeatedly at various tests.

The first definite step toward adequate protection was made after the Harcourt fire in 1914. That event demonstrated clearly that powerful streams of water alone could be depended upon to extinguish fires. The installation of hose in Old Kenyon and Hanna Hall was accordingly urged by the Collegian, and the matter was taken up by the Board of Trustees. The final result is complete provision against fire in the shape of fire escapes, hose in both dormitories, and, finally, the hydrants on the campus.

Hanna Howls

A recent alumni visitor made a remark to the writer recently which brought out a thought which should be of interest to all those who are living in Hanna Hall. It was in regard to the lack of lavatories in the building where hot water could be obtained.

Investigation shows that there are but four in that building, which houses some fifty students. Of these four, two are located on the third floor, one in North Hanna and one in South Hanna. In each of the rooms where these are located is one shallow iron sink—utterly useless as far as washing is concerned since they have no plugs and are usually in such a filthy condition as to discourage such operations.

The middle division of Hanna Hall is entirely without hot water of any kind and the men are forced to go to the bath tubs in the basement of either North or South Hanna.

One does not have to draw heavily on his imagination to imagine what the scene is in these two lone lavatories on Sunday morning—a long line of men with shaving brushes in hand waiting their turn at the hot water.

In order to make the building a little more livable and if possible a little closer to twentieth century standards, the writer would suggest that the two iron sinks be removed and that decent marble wash bowls be installed in their places; that Middle Hanna be supplied with at least two wash bowls where hot water may be secured. Think it over! Do not two wash bowls for fifty men seem rather ridiculous for a building which "in comfort and elegance of appointment * * * has no superior among college dormitories."

Brace Up

Although it is perhaps early in the year, it is never too early to mention The Reveille. Throughout the year the Collegian contains little reminders about the yearly publication of the Junior Class, in fact, the only time one may expect not to see them is when every man has done his share to help a class, ignorant in business methods, make a success of their business enterprise.

The position of business manager is not an honor, it is a task, and a more thankless job is not to be found in Kenyon College. The success of the publication depends on him, and his only salvation is the college in general.

Nearly every man who attends Assembly meetings, conceives the idea that he is supporting that body, but attendance is the smallest part of his share towards the Assembly. The Assembly ruled that each man in college should pay a definite assessment to support the Reveille. Last year less than half of the men supported the Reveille, a lamentable percentage, and still these same men expect the Junior Class to support their dances or other functions they may offer.

The publication of a Reveille is the proudest achievement of a Junior Class and for the book to be a financial success is a noble achievement for the business manager. Support the Reveille and you are an asset to the Assembly. It is not too late to help the class of 1917 and take a few books they have left, nor too early to start the class of 1918 on the right path in their maiden business enterprise, by paying your assessment—now!

Studies First

The freshman entering college has a great number of problems. He is thrown into an environment absolutely new to him and is in a way on trial, for what he does his freshman year inevitably influences his success or failure later in his college course.

The importance of keeping his work up to standard cannot be over-estimated, although it may appear to the freshman, as one of the disagreeable and non-essential details of life at college.

Another virtue in freshmen is modesty, at least with upper classmen. The important freshmen are not the men who run the college later in their course.

Why Not?

Since the opening of college many students have expressed a desire to play tennis. So far the management has made no effort to put the courts in condition. The executive committee, upon request, furnishes the management with money to be applied in keeping the courts in condition. It is the duty of the men in charge to see that the courts are rolled and properly marked out so that those students who wish to play will not be deprived of the sport.

Glee Club Keys Presented

Twenty members of last year's Glee Club have received the insignia of the club, a small gold key. The emblems were voted to members of the club last year by the Executive Committee, this being the first time they have been given out. The keys are rectangular, bearing a small G clef and the letter K on the front.

Former Students Return

Former members of Kenyon College who have returned to finish their courses are Messrs. Loomis, Love, McGormley, and Zeman.

Student Marries During Summer

Many students of the college were surprised and pleased to learn of the marriage of James P. DeWolf, '17, and Miss Elizabeth Owen of Mt. Vernon, during the summer. The wedding occurred on June 27, in Kansas City.

Dixie Campus

By IDLER

The tall white Doric columns stand out against their weather-worn red-bricked background. The slate roofs mark out the majestic contrast made with the red tin-roofed houses in the town below. The cobblestone pavement and the narrow, iron balconies projecting from second-story windows betray a southern town of an old type.

Lexington is nestled in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains, in that part of Virginia from which emanated no small number of men who distinguished themselves in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. It was the home of "Stonewall" Jackson and the residence of General Robert E. Lee who held the presidency of Washington and Lee University from 1865 until his death in 1870.

As the name designates this institution commemorates two great generals. It has always been closely connected with the political world through its alumni as well as its founders. Washington and Lee is noted especially for its Law School. In this connection there may be some interest in knowing that our present Secretary of War, Mr. Newton D. Baker, and the late Justice Lamar of the Supreme Court are graduates of the John Randolph Tucker Law School of Washington and Lee University.

As in most southern colleges, the debater and orator have not conceded their honored place to the athlete. Of course the athlete has his place in the southern college, and it is no mean position either. Athletics has assumed military precision probably due to the great feature which the South has made of the military preparatory school. The statesman and soldier are developed together.

In the south ceremony is respected. Conscience is not displaced by reason. The southerner is not ascetic or pious to excess. The cap and gown are not kept locked in the wardrobe. The college man of the South is dignified, sympathetic, and persistent. The campus and the professors' houses are situated on a plateau considerably above the town proper and as one stands on these heights and beholds the James river below he cannot but be seized with the grip of the historic environment. The mighty trees typify the stalwart soldier and the noble statesman. Life is truly inspired in the midst of such a setting which constantly holds forth the high awards its sons may attain.

FRESHMAN ENTERTAIN
HARCOURT

The freshman class, clad in pajamas and carrying candles, entertained Harcourt in the annual pajama parade, on Wednesday evening, September 27.

The usual costumes in the line of night apparel were exhibited as the class of '20 assembled for the parade. Because of the wind the candles were not lighted until the freshmen had formed in a half circle before Harcourt. Each freshman was called on to perform some entertainment. Some tried to sing, some dance and one freshman caused a good laugh when he demonstrated his version of a wiggle.

The freshman, on leaving Harcourt, brought the evening to a close by an informal call on some of the resident professors.

CHOIR ORGANIZED AND PLANS
GOOD MUSIC

Choice of the regular choir for the college year has been made by Choirmaster DeWolf, and about 26 men have secured positions. A majority of the members are those of last year's choir, but several good voices have been found among the new men, and a number of freshmen have made the choir.

The production of a religious cantata during the year is planned by the choir, and many new anthems and chants will be given.

The rules regarding chapel cuts for choir members are the same as in former years, 46 cuts a semester plus three additional cuts each week for members who have attended rehearsals. Substitutes receive two cuts for each week in which they attend rehearsal.

1920 WIN CANE RUSH
BY GOOD STRATEGY

Freshmen Rout Foe By Night Attack
Capturing Nineteen—Final
Score is 21 to 7

After disqualifying nineteen sophomores under the conditional rules, the freshmen, outnumbering their opponents more than two to one, put up a scrappy fight on Benson Field, and, when at the end of seven minutes spirited struggling Referee Kelleher halted the fray, were returned winners by a score of 21-7. The contest took place at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, September 23.

The contest was practically won the previous night, when according to ancient precedent the freshmen left the Hill under the guidance of several juniors. Their destination was a deserted house, supposedly four miles northeast of Gambier. Several of the freshmen have since declared that another half hour's walk would have seen them in Cleveland.

After over an hour's wait, the sophomores left in search of them, but returned to the Hill after a brief hunt and went to bed in the various divisions. Meantime the freshmen, after spending about half the night freezing in a barn whose chief architectural effect was open work, learned of the action of the sophomores and returned to the Hill. Learning that the sophomores had gone to bed, they searched the college, division by division, dragging out and tying nineteen men, and retiring for the rest of the night to Rosse Hall.

The Rush proper was warm and scrappy, being witnessed by a large number of visitors. At the end of seven minutes the cane was still in the middle of the field, with the freshmen having twenty-one of the twenty-eight hands on it.

During the rush, Wendell Love, '19, suffered a broken collar bone which will keep him out of football for several weeks. Roy Zeman, '19, was stunned during the scrap but recovered soon.

Bexley Hall opened the ninety-fourth year of its existence with evening prayer at 5:30, Tuesday, October 3. About the usual number of students were present at the opening.

President Peirce delivered the opening address during the chapel services, and was followed by Dean Jones, of the seminary, who made a short address to the new men.

A number of seniors in the college are rooming at Bexley this year, taking seminary work under the provision which permits this work to count on their college credits. Among the entering students is William R. Kinder, '14, who has been teaching school since his graduation from the college.

PROFESSOR DEVOL DIES AT GAMBIER

Treasurer and Emeritus Professor of History Departs Life After Long Illness

Russell Sedwick Devol, Emeritus Professor of History and Treasurer of the college, died at Gambier, Wednesday, July nineteenth. Professor Devol's death came as a great shock to the students and the surrounding community as his pleasing personality made friends for him everywhere. He had been in failing health for some months but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia to which he succumbed after a single day's illness.

Professor Devol accepted the professorship of Mathematics in Kenyon College in 1883. He was later made Treasurer of the college and in 1903 was made Professor of History. During this long period he took an active interest in college affairs and supported every movement which resulted in the advancement of the college. As an undergraduate of Ohio University, he made an excellent record and later occupied the chair of Mathematics in that institution.

Last spring Professor Devol resigned his active work in Kenyon and was made Emeritus Professor of History. From that time his health failed rapidly and his sickness covered but a very short period. He is mourned by an unusually large number of friends.

Repair Residence

Extensive repairs are being made on the residence of Dean Jones. A second story is being added to the two wings, and a complete renovation made of the interior. During the course of the work Dean Jones and Mrs. Jones are residing in the house next to the Commons. It is expected that the work will be completed by next spring.

GLEE CLUB PLANS TWO TRIPS IN YEAR

Prospects Good As Old Men Return
—Tour in North During Fall
—Spring Trip Also

With last year's club practically intact Glee Club prospects at Kenyon look very encouraging.

Director DeWolf is enthusiastic and predicts an even more successful Glee Club trip than last year.

The Club of last year is practically intact, and as about fifty men are out for positions, there will be a wealth of material to fill all vacancies.

Director DeWolf plans to take a trip before Christmas, probably northward, as he already has an engagement for a concert at Wooster. Another trip will probably be made in April.

Dr. Reeves addressed the Glee Club Monday evening, Sept. 25, and particularly emphasized the necessity of beginning work early in composing the Glee Club's "skit." This sketch will be arranged and given in place of the "Movie Show" which was so popular at their concert last year.

COURSES IN STORY WRITING AND SPANISH ATTRACT MANY STUDENTS

Among the new courses offered for the present year, one in short story writing, and the Spanish courses offered by Senor Macmahon are noteworthy.

The course in story writing is under the direction of Dr. Lockert, and was given at the request of several students. The class is limited in size, as the nature of the work prohibits large numbers.

Senor Macmahon, who is a graduate of the University of Valencia, Madrid, uses the conversational method in teaching, and claims that the average student should learn to speak fluent Spanish within a year.

Term Bills Issued

Term bills for the first semester of the collegiate year 1916-17 have been issued and may be secured at the President's office. All term bills must be paid by October 18, according to the two-weeks' rule of the Board of Trustees.

KENYON RECEIVES MEMBERSHIP IN FOREST SOCIETY

To make Kenyon College a life member of the Ohio State Forestry Society, W. E. Bontrager has paid a ten dollar fee to the treasurer of the society. This membership entitles the college to all the publications of the society. Mr. Bontrager made the college a similar gift last year, when he made it a member of the State Horticultural Society.

KENYON HOUSE DESERTED NEW HOTEL

Students returning to the Hill this fall noticed as one of the chief changes the abandonment of the old Kenyon House and the moving of the hotel to the building just north of the Commons formerly occupied by the Blue Bird Tea House. The name has also been changed, and the hotel is now known as the College Inn.

The old building will be torn down shortly, as it is in poor condition, and mars the appearance of the campus at that spot.

COMMENCEMENT SAW THRONG OF ALUMNI

Distinguished Visitors Receive Degrees —Alumni Parade in Costume Feature

The Commencement season of 1916 was one that will long be remembered by those that were present as one continuous round of good times interpolated with the more serious business of excellent graduation exercises. It was remarkable for the gratifying number of alumni who were back and for the well known men who spoke at the exercises, as well as for the lighter amusements of the season. Prominent among the speakers were Lindley M. Garrison, the Ex-Secretary of War at Washington, and Dr. Henry W. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who were both given the degree of Doctor of Laws.

The Board of Trustees met for their annual meeting at the library on Friday evening and on the next day met again for the adjourned session. On Saturday afternoon President and Mrs. W. F. Peirce entertained for the visiting alumni at Cromwell Cottage.

Saturday evening began with the alumni procession in which the old grads were, many of them, arrayed in ludicrous costumes. They marched to Rosse Hall where the college and visitors enjoyed an entertainment in which the classes of '96, '06 and '16 figured prominently. An informal dance served to wind up the evening very pleasantly.

At the ordination service on Sunday morning the Rev. George Gunnell of Trinity Church preached the sermon, followed by the Ordination to the Diaconate by the Bishop of Ohio. In the evening President Peirce delivered the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class. After services the glee club entertained with some delightful singing of college songs in front of Ascension Hall.

Commencement exercises took place on the next morning. After the exercises, the alumni who had by this time been joyfully re-united with their old classmates repaired to the Commons where the alumni banquet was held. A business meeting of the alumni occupied much of the afternoon and in the evening the commencement banquets were held. Tuesday afternoon gave an opportunity for a good rest to those who were to take part in the initiation ceremony and supper of the Phi Beta Kappa society which were held at 5:30 in the afternoon.

That evening the Juniors gave their reception to the graduating class. Julius Fischer was there with his well known band of dance music, which lasted until three o'clock, the closing event of Commencement.

Men Failing to Return to Hill Scatter to Various Positions

College opened this fall with a number of last year's men among the missing, some yielding to the call of business and others pursuing their studies in some of the other colleges.

Alfred Day, jr., ex'18, is studying Horticulture in Florida.

Clifford Sadler, ex'17, is in business with the McDaniel Land Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

"Joe" Morrow, ex'18, is completing his course at Ohio State.

Carnegie Tech looked better in the engineering line to Herbert Harkness, ex'19, than did Kenyon so he is finishing there.

Ralph Doll, ex'17, is in business in Canton.

John Gregg, ex'18, and "Bill" Leonard, ex'18, are both taking courses at the University of Pennsylvania.

John Dudley, ex'19, is in business in Washington, D. C.

William A. Parks, ex'19, on account of ill health will shortly go west.

Thomas E. Davey will take his degree at Ohio State.

Edward Seese, ex'17, is attending University of Michigan.

Noble VanVoorhis, ex'18, is with the Federal Radiator Co., New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Charles C. Lowry, ex'18, and Frederick S. Weida, ex'18, are both with the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio.

Clarence H. Platt, ex'17, is in business with his father in Mansfield.

Robert L. Lowrie, ex'19 is with the Cummins Prudden Co., Bond Brokers, Toledo, Ohio.

REVEILLE PICTURES TAKEN NEXT WEEK

Campus scenes, classes, organizations, and individuals will all have their photographs taken next week for the 1917 Reveille. The pictures will be taken by a representative of the White Studio, New York, which furnished the pictures for last year's Reveille.

Business Manager E. M. Wood, '18, announces that a schedule will be posted showing when the various organizations are to be "shot." All juniors are expected to have pictures taken at this time for the writeup of their class in the Reveille. Last year's pictures of the seniors will be used.

FRESHMAN EVENTS CAUSE AMUSEMENT

"Freshman Out" Starts Old Stunts At Prayer Cross—Minstrel Usual Disappointment

Immediately after the opening of college on September 20, the class of 1920 was given an introduction to freshman life as it has existed for many years at Kenyon. A few freshmen were brought from their rooms by the sophomores, placed with their faces toward Old Kenyon and their hands extending upward, and caused to re-iterate the time worn yell of "Freshmen Out" until all the new men were assembled.

After they had made enough clamor to satisfy the sophomores, they were marched around the campus in lock step and then circled around the prayer cross. Here each freshman was examined as to his qualifications for college life and his residence. As each man was brought forth he was also taught to spell his name and address his superiors in approved style. A little later the entire class was conducted to Philo Hall, where they listened to an able address on the rules and regulations governing new men on the Hill.

On Thursday evening the class of '20 was again brought forth, this time in old clothes and with their faces besmeared with burnt cork. After they had become proficient in marching lockstep on their hands and knees, they were assembled in Rosse Hall where the annual freshman minstrel was staged. While the actors lacked stage experience and ability, and were somewhat disconcerted by the restlessness and inattentiveness of the audience, they proceeded with their performance as best they could. Freshman Hohlfelder, the man with the iron cross, acted as interlocutor. The old men felt upon leaving the hall that they had been thoroughly though crudely entertained.

COLLEGE TRYOUTS NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

Announcement of tryouts for the Collegian brought twenty-two men out as candidates. The best included four juniors, and a number of sophomores besides the freshmen.

Among the positions open is one Junior Editorship, which brings one hour of English credit.

Complete announcement of the successful candidates will be made at the next meeting of the Collegian Board.

The successful cane rush story divides honors between George B. Schneider, '19, and John F. Sant, '20. The account in this issue is a composite of their separate efforts. The work of the candidates was generally good, and gives prospects of able workers for the paper in the future.

He is a sergeant in Company C, Third Regiment, now at El Paso, Tex. Mr. Jackson is judge of the criminal court of Lima, the only candidate on his party's ticket to carry the city last November.

President Peirce Preaches on Ingratitude

Dr. Peirce preached a sermon on the first Sunday morning worship of the college year that was full of good substantial food for thought for every one who heard it. The subject in general was the lack of gratitude in men, one of the meanest attributes that a man may have.

He showed how men might display it in outside life and then pointed out a closer view of it as can be seen in our life about college.

"No man," he stated, "pays out for his tuition nearly as much as he receives in value during his college career, since it is the endowments which support the college." Moreover it is the men who appreciated what their college had done for them that are responsible for these endowments.

Attend Brotherhood Convention

The Rev. Arthur S. Winslow, Chaplain of the college, and L. H. Danforth, '18, represented the Kenyon Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew at the convention held in Cleveland. The first meeting of the convention was held at the Hotel Statler on the evening of October 4.

PHILO TAKES IN MEMBERS

Ten Undergraduates and Faculty Members Are Initiated

Initiation of ten new members, eight students and two members of the college faculty, featured the second meeting of Philomathesian, held in Philo Hall the evening of October 4. The professors who were received into the society are Dr. Hugo P. J. Sellinger, of the department of economics, and Professor MacMahon, of the department of Romance languages.

President A. R. McKechnie conducted the initiation, which was held under the new form adopted this fall as an amendment to the constitution. The candidates were presented by the Vice-President, J. W. Southard, '18.

After the new men had been received, Charles W. Sheerin, '19, gave a humorous description of Cape Cod and its inhabitants. He was followed by Dr. Sellinger, who gave some of his own experiences in the same region. The program for the next meeting was announced as a light debate on "Resolved, that the traditional summer resort should be abolished."

The names of the new undergraduate members are R. W. Maxwell, '18, Robert U. Hastings, '19, A. L. Sidell, '20, C. J. Holley, '20, Baston H. Graves, '20, Robert Blessing, '20, Eugene F. Close, '20, Herbert D. Kelly, '20.

PUFF AND POWDER CLUB STARTS

Dramatic Club Plans Production After Reserve Game

With at least three dramatic productions planned for the present year, the first to be given the evening following the Reserve game, the Puff and Powder Club is looking forward to a busy year, according to the statement of members after the first meeting on October 4.

Two new members were admitted to the organization, Don Worthington, '17, and S. J. Davies, '17. Both men qualified for the club by taking part in plays last year.

The play to be given after the Reserve game will probably be in the nature of a sensational, melo-dramatic farce, of the blood-and-thunder variety. More pretentious productions will be staged during the festivities at Senior Prom next February, at the Sophomore Hop in the spring, and possibly at Commencement.

Election of officers is slated for next week. The present director is Donald H. Wattle, '17, and all men who wish to take part in this year's productions should hand their names to him.

Class Elections Soon

While none of the four classes has elected its officers for the present year, all class elections are expected to occur in the near future.

Aged Alumnus Passes Away

In Shreveport, Louisiana

An illness of about a year culminated on July 31 in the death of Major William H. Tunnard, '56, at Shreveport, La. Major Tunnard was in his eightieth year. At the time of his death he was Adjutant of General Leroy Stafford Camp, United Confederate Veterans.

William H. Tunnard graduated from Kenyon in the class of 1856, and five years later enlisted in the Confederate army at Baton Rouge, serving in the Missouri and Arkansas campaigns. He took part in the battles of Oak Hill, Elk Horn, and Corinth, and was present at the siege of Vicksburg.

After the war Major Tunnard entered journalism, and at one time was President of the Louisiana Press Association. He also wrote a valuable history of the Civil War. He was engaged in journalism in Natchitoches, Shreveport, and Winnfield, La. He was active in the United Confederate Volunteers, and besides offices in various camps, he was at one time Major General commanding the Louisiana Division of that body.
